BAZAAR BIZARRE

Not your granny's craft fair! The artists who comprise the popular indie Bazaar Bizarre are spunky, outrageous, and irreverent -- and so is their art. We are pleased that this indie market will join us again, now in an expanded location, and we invite you to discover the quirky, homemade kitsch that has made them famous.

LARCHMERE LAB

Larchmere is a neighborhood forever in flux. We are seeking ideas to make our neighborhood a better, stronger, more vibrant community, and we invite you to be a part of that grassroots effort. We will have a large brainstorming wall for your ideas and dreams.

Also invited are CSU students working on feasibility studies for Larchmere, who have questions and surveys of their own. Stop by and chat!

4 Larchmere Lofts, 12701 Larchmere

FLYA MARKET

Everyone loves a flea market. Scads of useful but used stuff will be available for sale by friends, neighbors, and residents. Sales from the Larchmere Community Association tables support the neighborhood security program. One man's trash is another man's treasure!

3 Sedlak's lot, 12609-12633 Larchmere

BEAT THE MASTER

Watch or play in the free Chess Exhibition presented by Progress with Chess! You will have the opportunity to challenge National Chess Expert Calvin Marshall in a simultaneous chess exhibition.

All ages and skill levels welcome. A tournament chess set will be awarded to anyone who achieves a draw or victory against the expert.

1 LifeSkills, 12201 Larchmere
Hours: 12-4pm

The Antiques & Collectibles vendors will again be grouped at the Shaker Heights parking lot, 12755 Larchmere Boulevard.

Writers abound in Cleveland! Join us as we host 47 (yes, forty-seven) local literati in a great celebration of words and writers. Meet some interesting folk here, expand your horizons, and take home some new (autographed) reads.

Included in the line-up this year are Mary Doria Russell, Cinda Williams Chima, Michael Heaton, Arabella Proffer, Tricia Springstubb, and 42 others. Genres represented include children's books, YA fiction, poetry, local history, collectibles, biography, business training, sci fi, and, of course, fiction.

ANNIE SLOAN ALLEY 8

Annie Sloan Chalk Paint is the hot new thing, and the fans of Metheny Weir have painted everything they can get their hands on. Come admire their work, and take home something vintage that has a new spin on life. Don't forget to sign up for a class!

VINTAGE AUTO DISPLAY 6

The folks at Shaker Quality Auto Body don't just repair cars and grill sausages, they belong to several vintage auto clubs. So they arranged to have some great classics on hand for view. Come kick some tires and talk shop with Ron and family.

BICYCLE PARKING 6

Complimentary bicycle parking this year will be in the garage at Shaker Quality Auto Body. Look for the signs on East 130th Street.

Thanks,
Ron and Lindsey!

Parking Tips

Larchmere will be open to traffic. You can park on Larchmere, its side streets and various parking lots (except those in use by vendors!). In addition, there are four big lots reserved for Festival parking (marked on the map with P1-P4).

1. Fairhill Center, 12200 Fairhill
2. LifeSkills, 12201 Larchmere
3. Our Lady of Peace, 12406 Buckingham (enter from E. 126th St. at Shaker Blvd.
4. former Am. Crafts Gallery, 13010 Larchmere
